Subject: BOSANKO in 1861 census

Dear Fayth,

I looked up a couple of BOSANKOs in the 1861 index at familyhistoryonline.net as follows:

Piece 1584 Camborne ED 14 Folio 140 Sched 102
Carwinnan Croft
Thomas BOSANKO HD 68 M Crowan
Mirriam BOSANKO WI 56 F Crowan
Mirriam BOSANKO DA 22 F Crowan
Alice BOSANKO DA 19 Camborne

Piece1574 Breage ED 6 Folio 71 Sched 125 Churchtown
Abraham BOSANKO HD 50 M Crowan
Rebecca BOSANKO WI 30 F Breage
Mary BOSANKO DA 24 F Crowan
Eliza BOSANKO DA 4 F Breage
Thomas H BOSANKO SO 1 M Breage
(Looks like Rebecca is a second wife which is supported by the 1871 census)

Piece 1584 Camborne ED 12 Folio 106-107 Sched 27
Bolenowe Croft
William BOSANKO HD 25 M Crowan
Ellen BOSANKO WI 25 F Camborne
Ellen BOSANKO DA 5 F Camborne
Susan Jane BOSANKO DA 3 F Camborne

These 1861 indices don't seem to give employment. That's all I've splurged for so far. I'm wondering if I'd be better off just to buy the 1861 CD but then I'd have to figure out how to use it and doing it on that site is very mindless.

Enjoy,
Karen

Dear Fayth,

Thanks for the extraordinarily helpful information. I'll be sure to pursue this lead. I know that Elizabeth and Anthony's son, Thomas, lived in Johnstown, PA in 1870, but I'll have to check this New Jersey lead for the parents. I would certainly not have discovered this piece of interesting information on my own. As I recall a few years ago, a woman was writing a book about the Cornish in New Jersey. I'll have to check the archives of the Cornish or Cornish-gen mailing list and see what I can find.

An older now deceased relative told me she attended the funeral of her greatgrandmother in Middlesex, Mercer County, PA when she was quite young. While she claimed it was from another side, I think it may in fact have been Elizabeth BOSANCO, as this other ancestor would've been too old (over 100) whereas Elizabeth would've been about 90 (old but more plausible than 100+) She estimated the date as 1913 or 1914.

In the 1900 Soundex for Shenango, Mercer County, PA, I found an Anthony YATES age 43 from England listed as a son of Elizabeth BANKS. I haven't checked the actual census yet, but this is also a promising lead. I wonder if she married a second time or BANKS was a corruption of her maiden name, BOSANCO.

It's great to have some leads on this side. I really appreciate your remembering me. I would've responded sooner but my son just got out of the hospital after an 11 day stay.

By all means, please include my name on your BOSANCO page.

Thanks again,
Karen

Karen
I meant to get back to you sooner. I have some information on Elizabeth Bosanco who married Anthony Yates and came to Dover, New Jersey. Elizabeth's nephew the child of her brother Thomas & Grace(Williams) Bosanko named Alfred (Grace had this Child before she married Thomas in 1852) He came to the Usa in 1870 and the only relative that was ever mentioned to his family was an Aunt he was said to visit once he arrived, her name was Elizabeth Yates of Dover(Doven), New Jersey. This information was sent to the Bosanko list in 1998 by Cat Nielsen this Alfred was her grandfather.
I will be updating this family page soon if you have any information to add would appreciate it. Also can I put your name by the Family you descend from on the BOSANKO WEB Pages.

Subject: Elizabeth BOSANCO, dau of Thomas &

Dear Fayth,

First of all, happy new year. Hope everything is going well. We had written previously about our mutual BOSANKO interest.

Earlier this week I received Elizabeth's death certificate and wanted to send you the details so that ultimately you might be able to include the information on your wonderful site. The death certificate gives the parents' names and provides confirmatory evidence that she is the daughter of Thomas and Miriam.

At the time of her death, her name was Elizabeth BANKS so she apparently had a second marriage after the death of her husband Anthony YEATES. The informant for the death certificate was her son Anthony YATES.

Her birth date was given as June 16, 1822 and her date of death as February 1, 1914. Place of death was Shenango Township, Mercer County, Pennsylvania and the cause of death was given as la grippe with old age as contributory. Burial took place on February 3, 1914 in the West Middlesex Cemetery.

This obviously was exciting information for me. Hopefully, it will motivate me to do more research on this side. I've been working on other branches mostly lately. Now that I finally have a death date, I'll see if I can find an obituary and will get back to you if I do and it contains any useful information.

Your distant cousin,
Karen in Pennsylvania

WEST MIDDLESEX

AGED MRS. BANKS WAS FLOWER GIRL FOR QUEEN VICTORIA

Mercer County lost one of her oldest residents when death took Mrs. Elizabeth Banks, aged 92 years, Saturday night. For the past 40 years, the Banks family have resided on their farm in Wet Tract. Mrs. Banks with the exception of two sons, Thomas Yeats of Stoneboro and Anthony, who has had charge of the farm for several years, is the last of a large family of English people who came to this country more than 60 years ago. She was the mother of a large family, a number of whom lived to past the middle of life. The two sons above mentioned, children of her first husband to whom she married in England shortly before their start for the new home in the States, are all that is left. Mrs Banks was the daughter of Thomas Bou Sanks of a prominent family of her native land.

She was born in Cornwall, England, and at the crowning of Queen Victoria at Westminster Abbey, June 28, 1838, was one of the flower girls at the coronation. She and her family have resided in Shenango Township for the past 40 years, the first 20 years of their residence in this country was spent near New Castle.

For a long time she has not taken part in church work owing to her age but she for many years was a very active member of the local Methodist Church, and her pastor, Rev. J. M. Farrell will have charge of the services that have been arranged for Tuesday from her home.

NOTE: Date of death was February 1, 1914 Her maiden name should be Bosanco or Bosanko not Bou Sanks sons, Martin, Frank and Oscar Mank—and one daughter, Anna Mank. The funeral will be held Tuesday at [illegible] a. m. from St. Peter's cathedral to Green Mount cemetery.

Family Has Many Troubles.

The family of Alfred Bosanko of Belleville is just now having its share of trouble. Eugene Bosanko, a son, was painfully crushed about the chest and legs yesterday morning by cars in the Royal coal mine. He was taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital for treatment. Mrs. Israel Bosanko, a daughter-in-law, died at her home in New Athens, Ill., of smallpox Friday afternoon. She and her husband had but a brief honeymoon. They were married here only a little over three weeks ago. A daughter of Mr. Bosanko is also lying ill at his home. The wife of the injured son is also very ill.

Miner Falls Through Trestle.

Peter Brown, a coal miner, residing at Birkner, fell through a trestle bridge on the Louisville and Nashville railroad Friday evening while on his way home from work and sustained dangerous internal in-

,000 come from cell F9 of the sales budget (Schedule 1). The cost of goods sold ;00,000 is computed in two steps. First, cost of goods sold includes the 2,000 f finished goods inventory from the beginning balance sheet, which have a total $26,000 (see Exhibit 8–3). Second, it includes 98,000 units produced and sold in ıultiplied by $13 per unit (see Schedule 6), for a total of $1,274,000. Combining wo steps, the total cost of the 100,000 units sold (see Schedule 1) is $1,300,000 00 + $1,274,000).[7] The selling and administrative expenses of $576,000 come :ell F17 of the selling and administrative expenses budget (Schedule 7). Finally, erest expense of $21,900 comes from cell G23 of the cash budget (Schedule 8).

ıe budgeted income statement is one of the key schedules in the budget process. vs the company's planned profit and serves as a benchmark against which subse- company performance can be measured. Because Larry Giano created a Budgeting ıptions tab in his Excel file and linked all of his budget schedules together using ·ly constructed Excel formulas, he can make changes to his underlying budgeting ptions and instantly see the impact of the change on all of the schedules and on net e. For example, if Larry wanted to estimate the profit impact if fourth quarter sales ,000 cases instead of 20,000 cases, he would simply change the 20,000 cases shown l F7 of his Budgeting Assumptions worksheet to 18,000 cases. The revised net ıe of $87,045 would instantly appear in cell C12 of the budgeted income statement.

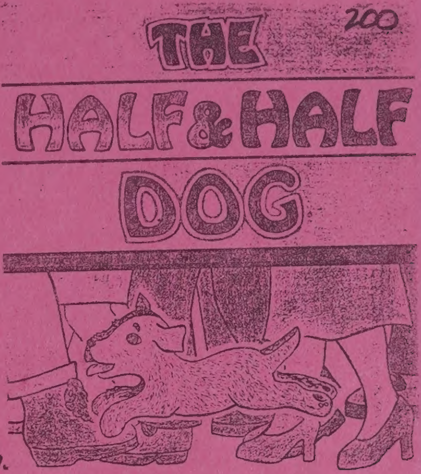
Dear Friend,

I know that you want to be written to from Wisconsin, so I am writ[illegible] Wisconsin is a beautifully [illegible] state [illegible] of deer. [illegible] one of the state's symbols. [illegible] Sugar maple, Robin, and wood violet are all state symbols. The violets are very pretty. [illegible]

We revised and edited our first drafts of letters to members of a class in Texas that are interested in learning about Wisconsin.



THE HALF & HALF DOG

LISA GROSS

We're beginning to think about the books that we will write.

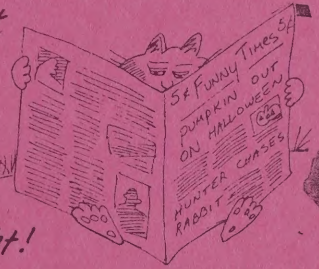
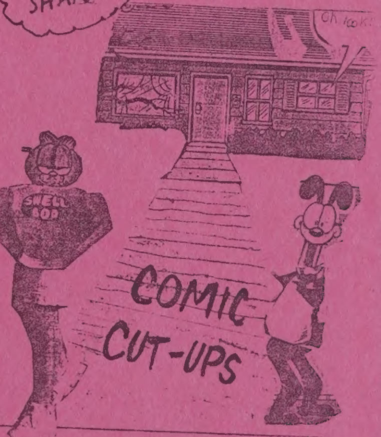
FIRST FRIDAY SHARING

We learned about the electoral college and then watched the election returns come in Tuesday night!





COMIC CUT-UPS

News and Thanks News and Thanks News and Thanks News and Thanks

- ☺ Thanks to Matt H. and family for keeping us well fed with snacks this week!
- ☺ Thanks to Linnea for bringing Friday's morning music.
- ☺ Thanks to parents who have signed up for their conferences. We still have several empty time slots for the November 19th and 20th meetings. The sign-up sheet is posted outside the classroom door.
- ☺ On Friday next week we will see the Ballet Gran Folklorico de Mexico, a group of dancers and musicians who will share traditional and folk dances from ten different regions of Mexico. We look forward to this visit to the Civic Center.

Sharing At Home Sharing At Home Sharing At Home Sharing At Home

- ☺ We've been exploring comic strips each morning this week. Share some of your creations with people at home.
- ☺ We learned about the electoral college before Tuesday's election. Describe what the electoral college is. How many electors does Wisconsin have? Is it possible to win the popular vote but not be elected president?
- ☺ Tuesday we began reading books written and illustrated by authors ranging from six to thirteen years old. What did the authors do that captured your attention? Describe one of the books to people at home.
- ☺ We were invited to the dress rehearsal of West High School's "Oklahoma" on Thursday. What was the setting for the play? Describe the plot. Who are the main characters? Did you notice any sterotypes?

Charles Hertel Issued First Teaching Certificate to Alfred Bosanko's Wife

Dreaming of the prowess that once was his, and seeing in his mind's eye the ghosts of once active coal mines that came into existence through his ability as a human "mole," a Belleville man sits in his home and dreams of the achievements of by-gone years. And talks of them, too, for he is proud of his record and of the part he played in the development of the coal mining industry of the St. Clair County area.

ALFRED BOSANKO

His memories are almost all that are left to him out of his active life for all of the old-time operators for whom he worked have long since passed on to their rewards. Most of the mines he sunk, and those which he reclaimed, have been worked out to their last veins. There may be a few left--but not enough to count, when compared to their original number.

Alfred Bosanko, 82 years old, last March 2, is one of the last of a race of pioneer coal men who instituted modern methods in mining. He always was successful in sinking shafts—his record, a mine near Odin that was 700 feet deep --but his greatest reputation came in salvaging properties that others had declared were hopelessly lost.

Performs Feat

There was the mine at Lebanon that had been put down in sand and all efforts to keep the trickly stuff back had failed. No one could control it said the man who had sunk the shaft and the owner sadly was preparing to let the earth reclaim its own when Mr. Bosanko asked to be given a chance to try his skill. Without boasting, it may be said that the mine was timbered; that it was operated successfully; that it later was sold to the Consolidated Coal Company, and that the success of Mr. Bosanko was recognized by the Consolidated with an agreement of employment that lasted for more than eight years.

The aged veteran of the mines is not quite so active now, although his retirement is a matter of only nine years. He has to his credit an extended trip to California when he was 79 years old—a trip which he enjoyed as much as did his grandchildren. He still takes an active mental interest in public affairs, particularly political affairs, and has decided views on many matters.

America First

Himself an emigrant from England about 1870, he feels that economic conditions have changed materially in the last three-score years and that restrictive immigration laws are very necessary in the life of the United States today. It is emphatically a case of America first with him, backed by a firm conviction that there is plenty of labor in this country now and that the first jobs should go to the American working man, before allowing others to come in and make a division of work necessary.

Having been a Republican since Grant's second term, as he expresses it, he believes that a protective tariff is necessary, but at the same time admits that he cannot understand just how it affects prosperity.

And as for prohibition, the principle of it is all wrong. For Mr. Bosanko believes in personal liberty: "If a man wants a little drink he should have the privilege of taking it, and if another man doesn't want a drink, no one should force him to swallow it."

That is a logic of years of understanding and of observation of many of the foibles of the world.

Hoover Party's Nominee

Concerning this year's presidential possibilities, Mr. Bosanko expresses no views on the Democratic side for he has been a Republican of 60 years' duration, 20 of which he served as a member of the St. Clair County Central Committee, as a precinct committeeman from Belleville. In his judgment President Hoover will be renominated by his party.

Mr. Bosanko developed into his life's work naturally, for he was born in County Cornwall, England, and as a boy worked in the tin and copper mines of that region, although there mining principles were different than they are in the coal mines here. Those mines did not have shafts but tunnels that gradually wound deeper into the ground and cable cars were used to haul the ore to the surface.

Some of the mines were as much as 800 yards deep and the inclined railway made the tunnels very dangerous, but they all were taken as a matter of course in connection with the daily run of work.

St. Patrick's Day

But after a few years, Mr. Bosanko and several companions decided they had had enough, and since there were no restrictive immigration laws, agreed to go to America. Mr. Bosanko had an aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Yates, living in Dover, New Jersey, so that was their first stopping point. His companions soon went their respective ways, but he remained at his aunt's home for some time and then went to Pennsylvania, getting work in the mines, and learning there for the first time the difference in mining between the new and the old countries.

From Pennsylvania he went on to Indiana, again working in the mines, then on to Illinois, locating at Edwardsville and later coming to Belleville. He doesn't remember just what time it was, but he remembers that it was early in 1873 for big preparations were being made for the annual St. Patrick's Day celebration here.

That was in the days of the old Cairo Short Line and St. Patrick's Day was the occasion of a district-wide celebration each year. Belleville people always took part and made up a special party to go to the metropolis by train. And he remembers also the parade of 1873. It was the first he ever had seen and it made a lasting impression on his mind.

Wife Was School Teacher

Sam Swancutt was proprietor of a boarding house and saloon in West Belleville then, and there Mr. Bosanko made his home. After a year he moved to Freeburg where he met the lady who became Mrs. Bosanko. She was Miss Margaret Jane Hood, a native of Sparta, who was teaching school in Belleville, and who had had the honor of receiving the first teacher's certificate issued by Charles Hertel when he became county superintendent of schools for the first time.

They were married January 24, 1874, and lived in Sparta until 1881 when they moved to Belleville, which since has been the home of the Bosanko family. Their residence was established at the corner of Third and C streets, but since the death of Mrs. Bosanko on May 5, 1923, Mr. Bosanko has been making his home with his youngest daughter, Mrs. R. M. Hathaway at 319 North Eighth street.

Ten children were born to the union of Mr. and Mrs. Bosanko, seven of whom are living. Two sons, Alfred and John, died in infancy, and a daughter, Lulu, at the age of three years. The surviving children are:

Thomas W. Bosanko, of Sacramento, Calif.; Jane, wife of William Van Hoose, of Edgemont; Israel W. Bosanko, living in the old home; Eugene A. Bosanko, of St. Louis; Henry Bosanko, living with his brother, Israel; Alonzo C. Bosanko, staff sergeant of the Second Engineers stationed at Fort Logan, Denver, Colo.; and Ruth, wife of R. M. Hathaway.

Five Great Grandchildren

Mr. Bosanko, too, is happy over his descendants, for his children are the parents of his 19 grandchildren and his grandchildren of five great-grandchildren. The former follow:

Children of Mr. and Mrs. William Van Hoose: Neal Van Hoose, of Edgemont; Thomas Van Hoose, of Detroit, Mich.; Rev. Alfred Van Hoose, of Cambria, Ill.; George Van Hoose, of Detroit; Margaret, wife of Alva Macke, of Edgemont; and William, Jr., Henry, Ruth Inez and Alonzo, all living at home.

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bosanko: Irene, wife of Almer Herman, of St. Louis, and Eugene, Jr., Clarence, Dorothy and Lena Marie, all living at home.

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Bosanko: John Alfred, Thomas Calvin and Daniel Campbell Bosanko, all living at home.

Children of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hathaway: Grace Inez Smith, a daughter of Mrs. Hathaway's first marriage to John W. Smith, who passed away in 1923, and Bobby Hathaway, Jr., both living at home with their parents.

The five great-grandchildren are: Evon and Jeannine Van Hoose, children of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Van Hoose, of Edgemont; and Alfred Eugene, James and Mary Louise Herman, children of Mr. and Mrs. Almer Herman, of St. Louis.

Here are the entries, really little vignettes, of all the other Bosanko's in the index I mentioned. To save typing, note that they were all from the Belleville Daily Advocate, except the one early entry for Eugene in 1901 simply said Advocate. I think it was a weekly at the time, but by 1903, had become a daily. More on that later.

SCORING YOUR RESULTS

Now that you have completed the questionnaire, it is time to score your results and evaluate your own level of daytime sleepiness. It's simple. Just add up the numbers you put in each box to get your total score.

THE EPWORTH SLEEPINESS SCALE KEY

A total score of less than 10 suggests that you are not suffering from excessive daytime sleepiness.

A total score of 10 or more suggests that you may need further evaluation by a physician to determine the cause of your excessive daytime sleepiness and whether you have an underlying sleep disorder.

YOUR NEXT STEPS

This scale should not be used to make your own diagnosis. It is intended as a tool to help you identify your own level of daytime sleepiness, which is a symptom of many sleep disorders.

If your score is 10 or more, please share this information with your physician. Be sure to describe all your symptoms, as clearly as possible, to aid in your diagnosis and treatment.

It is important to remember that true EDS is almost always caused by an underlying medical condition that can be easily diagnosed and effectively treated.

Let me know what you want to do. I would be happy to get them, even all of them, if you're not in a big hurry.

Charly

✓Thomas W.
Oct 26, 1914 Marries Margaret E. Warner of Albany, NY in Sacramento, CA.

If any of these are ancestors, looks to me like you've found a gold mine of info here! For example, finding that this last one, Margaret Warner was from Albany, he was from Belleville, and they married in Sacramento might be just a little hard to find out any other way.

NOTE: You said once you could order these from the IHS. I assume you mean you are ordering microfilm of this newspaper. Well, the microfilms for all these entries are here in the Belleville Library, and it is a relatively simple matter to simply pull the film, find the article and print out a copy as I did with Alfred.

If such is the case, why not pick some of these entries that look to be most promising, and I'll get them for you. That would be a lot faster than going through the process of ordering film, etc. Also, bear in mind that some of these entries may have virtually no more info than is shown here, since the news items, especially routine obits and such, are notoriously terse in that era, at least from what I've seen so far.

On the other hand, you might want to order everything from IHL all at the same time. I wouldn't be able to get them all right away, but could do it eventually.

DO YOU SUFFER FROM EXCESSIVE DAYTIME SLEEPINESS?

The following questionnaire will help you measure your general level of daytime sleepiness. You are to rate the chance that you would doze off or fall asleep during different, routine, daytime situations. Answers to the questions are rated on a reliable scale called the Epworth Sleepiness Scale (ESS). Each item is rated from 0 to 3, with 0 meaning you would never doze or fall asleep in a given situation, and 3 meaning that there is a very high chance that you would doze or fall asleep in that situation.

How likely are you to doze off or fall asleep in the following situations, in contrast to just feeling tired? Even if you haven't done some of these activities recently, think about how they would have affected you.

Use the following scale to choose the most appropriate number for each situation:

0 = would never doze
1 = slight chance of dozing
2 = moderate chance of dozing
3 = high chance of dozing

It is important that you put a number (0 to 3) in each of the 8 boxes.

Situation	Chance of dozing (0–3)
Sitting and reading
Watching television
Sitting inactive in a public place, for example, a theater or meeting
As a passenger in a car for an hour without a break
Lying down to rest in the afternoon
Sitting and talking to someone
Sitting quietly after lunch (when you've had no alcohol)
In a car, while stopped in traffic

NOTES on Child #1 - Thomas W. BOSANKO

b. 17 Nov 1874
d. 3 Mar 1942

Alfred Van Hoose says that in the 1930's that he visited Thomas in the Masonic Home South of San Francisco, and that he is buried there. Family says he died of quick Silver Poisoning. Went to Nevada earlier, involved in Silver mines. Pratt Mortuary is no longer in existence. Can't locate obituary notice or location of the burial of remains. Cremation took place. I have the death certificate, but there is no other information on whether or not there are children. Wife's name is sated as "Margaret E." Thomas' death certificate indicates that his wife died prior to his death. I have another death certificate of a Margaret WARNER. This is a possible, but I need to confirm it. If my memory serves me right, there are several of those on the "BOSANKO list" that are related to this family. :)

My history of the Bosanko Family

In 1967 on a trip around the world I ended up in London England. From there I called to anyone in Land's End by the name of Bosanko. I was connected to a Mr. Bosanko who owned and operated a store. We talked for quite a while to see if he knew anyone who might be related or could tell me about the family of a Alfred Bosanko. He never heard of our family, didn't know anyone who might be of help.

However in a letter dated March 3rd I received the following information from a cousin of mine named Irene Herman R-1 Box 219 Pacific, Mo. She is the daughter Eugene, my mother's brother.

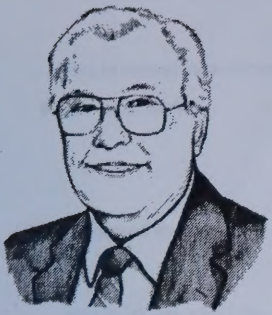
This information she said appeared in the Belleville News - Democrat Volume.77, No.71 on Thursday March 2nd 1932 in an article concerning the issuance of teaching certificates by Charles Hertel. It was carried on page one and continued on page 5. It mentioned the first teaching certificate was issued to Alfred Bosanko's wife. (Jane Hood)

It said Alfred Bosanko was born on March 2nd in 1850 in Cornwall England. That he emigrated from England to the United States in 1870. On arriving he went to his aunt, a Mrs. Elizebeth Yates of Doven New Jersey. Then went to the Penn. coal mines, thence to Indiana, and on the Illinois coal fields.

He settled in Edwardsville in 1873, then moved to Belleville, then to Freeburg where he met Jane Hood whom he married on January 24th 1874.

This is all I have and I really hope it connects into your family somewhere. With what you have maybe you can shed a lot of light on the Bosanko side of my family. Remember I told you I was named after both of my grandfathers! So I am privileged to sign this as your cousin,

A.D. VanHoose



Personal from Bro. Van

Dear Linda:

It was really nice to hear from you and to talk with you by phone about our family!

I am enclosing a sheet you can keep with your other information on the Bosanko family. It is as I know it

Why Alfred Bosanko came to the Belleville area is unknown by me. It would seem that he was sent here by some coal company who wanted him to sink a mine shaft for them. This he did but I know little of it.

All I know is he met my Grandmother, a Margret Hood from Sparta Illinois. She was a school teacher.

I remember both of them very well and loved them dearly. Alfred had white hair and a white goatee and a deep gruff voice. Financially he was a very tight man. Ha Is this true of all Bosanko's?

Lets stay in touch and if you are ever out in this next of the woods contact us. We would be happy to have you in our home.

With lots of family love,

Alfred VanHoose

Son of Jane Grace & Wm Vanhoose

Alfred and Margret Bosanko

What brought Alfred Bosanko to the Belleville Illinois area is unknown by me. Probably the coal mining industry brought him and I have always been told that he headed the force that sank the first mine shaft in the area. It was located on Hi-way 13 just east of the Bellevile Cemetary. He and his wife are buried in this cemetary. I attended his funeral in Belleville.

Alfred married Margret Jane Hood, a school teacher from Sparta. From them came the following children.

Thomas Bosanko
Jane
Iddle Isreal
Dean Eugenie
Dollie Ruth
Alonzo

Jane was my mother. She married a William Vanhoose from Easter Kentucky, a traveling mine saleman, who sold punching machines. From their marriage came nine children.

Cornelious (Neal) (Deceased)

Margret
William (Bill)
Henry (Hank) (Deceased)

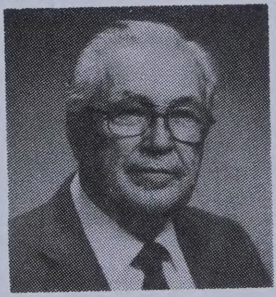
Alonzo (Betz_ (Deceased)



Bro. Van
Box 4590

Margret married a Thomas Elliott who is deceased.
Ruth married a Loyal Weinkauf also deceased
Tom lives in Chystral River,Florida
I live here in Evansville, Indiana
The rest live in the Fairview Heights area or at Belleville.

Alfred lived on 3rd street in Belleville across from a public school. The house is gone. I remember a big picture of a soldier, an officer of some kind, that hung in their living room. None of us know what became of it.

Aunt Dollie was married twice, firt to a Smith, they had two children a boy and a girl. The boy died early, the girl name Grace Inez has lived in the Berkley California for years. She and my sister Ruth wrote to each other. She might lead you to her. Dollies second husband was a Robert Hathaway and I believe he is buried somewhere in the Long Beach area. I believe they had a son that I know nothing of. Grace Inez would know.

Uncle Dean has a daughter still living. We write to each other at times and I keep her up with the Vanhoose's. She is either 90 or close to it. Her name is Irene (Bosanko) Herman 5757 Hunters Ford Rd. Pacific, Mo.63069 I don't have a phone number.

My sister Ruth Weinkauf lives at 1606 Pontiac Rd. Fairview Heights, Illinois 62208 may have Grace Inez address. I am sure she would be happy to either write or talk with you Her phone number is 618-397-0175

Chuck Wagon Grills, Inc. Variable Costing Income Statement
Sales		$ 2,670,000
Variable expenses:
Variable cost of goods sold	$ 979,000
Variable selling and administrative	267,000
		1,246,000
Contribution margin		1,424,000
Fixed expenses:
Fixed manufacturing overhead	170,000
Fixed selling and administrative	870,000
		1,040,000
Net operating income		$ 384,000

3. What is the company's break-even point in terms of the number of barbecue grills sold?

Break-even point	6,500	units

Garrison 15e Recheck 2014-12-17

Explanation:

1.
Under variable costing, only the variable manufacturing costs are included in product costs.

Direct materials	$ 80
Direct labor	20
Variable manufacturing overhead	10
Variable costing unit product cost	$110

Note that selling and administrative expenses are not treated as product costs; that is, they are not included in the costs that are inventoried. These expenses are always treated as period costs.

2.
Variable cost of goods sold = 8,900 units × $110 per unit = $979,000
Variable selling and administrative = 8,900 units × $30 per unit = $267,000

3.
The break-even point in units sold can be computed using the contribution margin per unit as follows:

Selling price per unit	$300
Variable cost per unit	140
Contribution margin per unit	$160

$$\text{Unit sales to break-even} = \frac{\text{Fixed expenses}}{\text{Unit contribution margin}}$$

$$= \frac{$1{,}040{,}000}{$160 \text{ per unit}} = 6{,}500 \text{ units}$$

Dear Linda,

I recently received your name in the mail from Rich Bosanko in Wisconsin. As you can probably imagine, it was quite a surprise to hear from another Bosanko. My side of the family is all from around the San Antonio area of Texas. I never knew of anyother Bosanko's.

I understand you've been doing some research on the subject. I'm interest in seeing what you have and lending you a hand if you need it. I live just outside Washington, D.C. and have access to all the large collections stored by the government.

Look forward to hearing from you soon.

Dear Linda,

Just a short note to say hi. You told me to write and remind you of the copies your getting for me. Enclosed you will find a copy of the pictures that I promised you.

All is well here in Memphis. I talked to a Bosanko on the internet from Australia. I hope you don't mind, but he ask if I knew you and if I had your phone and address. I gave them to him. Then I wrote a letter to Judith Bosanko from Australia, do you know her? She is researching Henry Marks Bosanko bap 17th May 1862. Just in case you don't her address is 68 Wickham St, Brighton 4017, Qld. Australia.

I looked in the 1800 census for Cornwall England and I can't find Alfred. I guess I'll try the church records next.

I hope you feeling OK. Write when you have time.

Regards,

Joni

Notes:

Different Types of Stakeholders

by Ruth Mayhew

Shareholders are stakeholders, but not all stakeholders are shareholders. These two terms often are erroneously confused with one another. There are a number of types of stakeholders, yet a commonality exists among them. They aren't all individuals, but different groups of stakeholders may have individual interests. A stakeholder is any person, entity, group or organization that has an interest in another entity.

Legal Stakeholder

The legal definition of a stakeholder is an entity or individual with possession of something valuable – such as money, documents, property – until the rightful owner can be found. For example, many states have unclaimed property departments where people can search for money owed to them or someone they know. Other examples of stakeholders might be lost-and-found departments or the section of a police department for stolen property that has yet to be claimed by the victim of a robbery or burglary.

Individuals

Individual consumers, investors and shareholders and residents may be stakeholders because they have a monetary or nonmonetary interest in an organization or entity. From an investment standpoint, shareholders are monetary stakeholders in companies for which they purchase shares of stock. Residents are stakeholders in the neighborhood association to which they belong. Both have a bilateral relationship because the stakeholder has an interest in the continued existence of the entity and the entity provides the stakeholder with something of value.

Community Interest

An example of a community or project stakeholder is a group of residents who are awaiting the arrival of a city's new transit system. Both individuals and groups of residents in this case are looking forward to the benefits they reap from quicker, more efficient transportation, and the project team anticipates the welcome reception of its finished project. Project stakeholders have an interest in a matter that comes to fruition through project management, planning, development and implementation.

Corporate Investment

Within the context of corporate governance and activity, different groups of stakeholders exist. Employees have a vested interest in the corporation's success as they have devoted their time, talent and energy to working for the organization. In return, employees expect payment for their expertise and qualifications. The corporation's board of directors is another group of stakeholders – board members expect the company to follow their direction and leadership through the guidance they provide to a corporation's CEO. Customers or clients are yet another group of stakeholders because they, too, have an interest in the outcome of the corporation's activities in that they expect quality services and products.

Different Types of Stakeholders

by Ruth Mayhew

Shareholders are stakeholders, but not all stakeholders are shareholders. These two terms often are erroneously confused with one another. There are a number of types of stakeholders, yet a commonality exists among them. They aren't all individuals, but different groups of stakeholders may have individual interests. A stakeholder is any person, entity, group or organization that has an interest in another entity.

Legal Stakeholder

The legal definition of a stakeholder is an entity or individual with possession of something valuable – such as money, documents, property – until the rightful owner can be found. For example, many states have unclaimed property departments where people can search for money owed to them or someone they know. Other examples of stakeholders might be lost-and-found departments or the section of a police department for stolen property that has yet to be claimed by the victim of a robbery or burglary.

Individuals

Individual consumers, investors and shareholders and residents may be stakeholders because they have a monetary or nonmonetary interest in an organization or entity. From an investment standpoint, shareholders are monetary stakeholders in companies for which they purchase shares of stock. Residents are stakeholders in the neighborhood association to which they belong. Both have a bilateral relationship because the stakeholder has an interest in the continued existence of the entity and the entity provides the stakeholder with something of value.

Community Interest

An example of a community or project stakeholder is a group of residents who are awaiting the arrival of a city's new transit system. Both individuals and groups of residents in this case are looking forward to the benefits they reap from quicker, more efficient transportation, and the project team anticipates the welcome reception of its finished project. Project stakeholders have an interest in a matter that comes to fruition through project management, planning, development and implementation.

Corporate Investment

Within the context of corporate governance and activity, different groups of stakeholders exist. Employees have a vested interest in the corporation's success as they have devoted their time, talent and energy to working for the organization. In return, employees expect payment for their expertise and qualifications. The corporation's board of directors is another group of stakeholders – board members expect the company to follow their direction and leadership through the guidance they provide to a corporation's CEO. Customers or clients are yet another group of stakeholders because they, too, have an interest in the outcome of the corporation's activities in that they expect quality services and products.

da,

I have no record of contacting you about our mutual relative, Alfred Bosanko, but if I have been remiss in the past I now intend to mend my ways!

Somewhere in my files I have a letter from Cathy Nielsen of Kensington, Calif. dated 1-20-97 (!) in which she gave me your name + address + a brief summary of the research she said that you had done on the Bosankos who had immigrated to the U.S.

I would be interested in knowing more about your background + just how we are related. Was Alfred Bosanko your grandfather, too, and who was your father? It was interesting that my great grandfather was also Alfred Bosanko + that he married a Grace Williams (my married name).

There is a lot of catching-up I must do if I am to get my Bosanko connections organized. Where to go from here? I am enclosing a copy of Cathy's letter + also one of my 1st cousin, Alfred Van Haase, who is the son of my mother's sister, Jane Bosanko Van Haase

Please let me know if there is any information I may have that you would like.

Sincerely,

Grace (Smith) Williams

Stakeholder (corporate)

A stakeholder in a corporation, as defined in its first usage in a 1983 internal memorandum at the Stanford Research Institute, is a member of the "groups without whose support the organization would cease to exist".[1] The theory was later developed and championed by R. Edward Freeman in the 1980s. Since then it has gained wide acceptance in business practice and in theorizing relating to strategic management, corporate governance, business purpose and corporate social responsibility (CSR). A corporate stakeholder can affect or be affected by the actions of a business as a whole. Whereas shareholders are often the party with the most direct and obvious interest at stake in business decisions, they are one of various subsets of stakeholders, as customers and employees also have stakes in the outcome. In the most developed sense of stakeholders in terms of real corporate responsibility, the bearers of externalities are included in stakeholdership.

Applications of the term

Examples of a company's stakeholders

Stakeholders:	Stakeholder's concerns:[2]
Government	taxation, VAT, legislation, employment, truthful reporting, legalities, externalities...
Employees	rates of pay, job security, compensation, respect, truthful communication, appreciation, acknowledgement, recognition.
Customers	value, quality, customer care, ethical products.
Suppliers	providers of products and services used in the end product for the customer, equitable business opportunities.
Creditors	credit score, new contracts, liquidity.
Community	jobs, involvement, environmental protection, shares, truthful communication.
Trade unions	quality, worker protection, jobs.
Owner(s)	profitability, longevity, market share, market standing, succession planning, raising capital, growth, social goals.
Investors	return on investment, income.

Types of stakeholders

Any action taken by any organization or any group might affect those people who are linked with them in the private sector. For examples these are parents, children, customers, owners, employees, associates, partners, contractors, and suppliers, people that are related or located nearby.

Primary Stakeholders – usually internal stakeholders, are those that engage in economic transactions with the business (for example stockholders, customers, suppliers, creditors, and employees).

Secondary Stakeholders – usually external stakeholders, are those who – although they do not engage in direct economic exchange with the business – are affected by or can affect its actions (for example the general public, communities, activist groups, business support groups, and the media).

Excluded Stakeholders – those such as children or the disinterested public, originally as they had no economic impact on business. Now as the concept takes an anthropocentric perspective, while some groups like the general public may be recognized as stakeholders others remain excluded. Such a perspective does not give plants, animals or even geology a voice as stakeholders, but only an instrumental value in relation to human groups or individuals.

PRIVATE JOHN EICHORN/ACORN

JOHN ACORN was born at Broad Bay (Waldoboro) Maine, in 1761. His grandfather was Matthias Eichorn, who had emigrated from Germany c. 1740. It has been presumed that John was the son of Matthias, who died when John was in his early teens. After the death of his father, John was raised by his grandparents, Matthias and Margaret. During the American Revolution, John served for three and one half years in Robert Rogers' Kings Rangers—3rd Battalion. He came to the Island of St. John in May of 1782 with Capt. Samuel Hayden, and was one of the group of these soldiers who chose to remain here. These men were promised the same treatment as the loyal refugees from the United States. Apparently they did receive the same treatment, which as we all know, was not what they had expected. In 1833, John Acorn was one whose testimony before the Commission on the Loyalist situation was published in the minutes of the Legislative Assembly. By order in council dated 18 April 1784, John Acorn was to receive a grant of one hundred acres at Orwell Point. The Orwell Point land was never deeded, but John did receive a deed to one hundred acres of land in Vernon River in 1788, from Governor Patterson. Acorn testified that the reason Patterson gave him the land in Vernon River was that he wished Acorn to remain on Prince Edward Island and start a mill.

The same year as the date of deed to the Vernon River property, John Acorn married Eleanor Williams, the daughter of a retired British Officer who had settled in Nova Scotia. At the time, John was twenty-seven and his bride a young girl of seventeen. Legend has it that because of the age differences Eleanor was disowned by her father. The couple lived many happy years and together raised a family of thirteen children.

On 1 December, 1795 John purchased, from Anne Clarke, two hundred acres of land in the Pownal area of Lot 49, and for many years ran the grist and saw mills of "49" referred to as Acorn's Mill and the Mayflower Mills. In 1835 John deeded half of the farm property and the mill over to his son, William. The same year he deeded to his son, James, the shore property of sixty-six acres which he had purchased from John Cambridge in 1824.

It is said that John had black hair, with heavy eyebrows and beard. He was said to be very set in his ways, and methodical. At the time of his death on 19 June 1857, at the grand old age of ninety-six years, his obituary stated that he had been a Methodist for upwards of forty years. Both John and Eleanor, who predeceased him by a number of years, are buried in Pownal Churchyard.

The change in the name from the German Eichorn to Acorn was a gradual English phonetic evolvement. On leafing through old papers one comes across Eachorn, Achorn as well as the original Eichorn. The Acorns on Prince Edward Island, who are all descendants of John, are the only ones who spell their name as 'Acorn'.

children of John and Eleanor are:

Margaret Acorn (1790-1866)
Margaret was born on 5 November 1790 and died on 16 October 1866. Circa 1809 she married George Jenkins, who was born in 1785, and died accidently on 23 August 1836, while working in the woods with two of his sons. (see Jenkins history).

Eleanor Acorn (1792-?)
Eleanor was born on 25 November 1792 and married William Jenkins, brother of George. They lived at Birch Hill, Lot 49. The Church of Scotland is built on land which was once a part of their farm. William and Eleanor had ten children. (see Jenkins history).

John Acorn (1794-1858)
John was born on 5 June 1794. He died on 19 October 1858. His first marriage was on 12 February 1817 to Jane Judson (1795-1830), and his second marriage was on 2 August 1831 to Eleanor Moore. On John's death, Isaac sold the farm in Lot 49, and with his mother and some younger members of the family moved to Lot 13. Their family consisted of:

A. John William (1818-1891) who was married on 22 March 1842 to Jane Mitchell (1820-1914). Both are buried in Pownal.

TWO ACCIDENTS.

One of Them Proves Fatal, and the Other Injures a Man's Scalp.

Yesterday morning a fatal accident occurred at the Clark's Colusa mine. W. J. Bosanko, and his partner, Sam. Gribbles, were at work making a raise at about 1:25 o'clock a. m., on the west drift of the 450-foot level. Bosanko made the remark that he was dry and said he would go and get a drink of water, and started for the east drift, having of course, to pass the shaft. When he arrived where the men were at work, they told him they had none. He then started back. By way of explanation it is necessary to state that between the point he visited on the east drift and the shaft there is a crosscut, where giant is kept; in this cut were some five or six sticks (kept there to have dry) some fuse and caps. From all appearances it is supposed he stepped in there and was handling or trying to open an unopened box of caps, with some instrument, and exploded them, and the concussion naturally exploded the giant. He had been gone but a moment when the explosion was heard. His partner, not seeing his Basanko return, went over to where he supposed he was and made inquiries of the men where he thought he had gotten a drink. The men told him he had been there, but had gone away a short time previous to his coming. Gribbles then thought something had happened him and instituted search, and while gropiug through the dense smoke fell over his partner's body two or three times before he discovered what the object really was that lay in his way. He found Bosanko terribly mutilated and of course dead.

Coroner Whitford was summoned and immediately went to the scene of the accident empaneled a jury and held an inquest over the remains. A verdict of accidental death was found.

Mr. Bosanko was a member of No. 7,202 of Order of Forresters, who took charge of the body and brought it to Butte. The funeral wiil take place at 2 p. m. to-day under the auspices of the order. The unfortunate man is a native of Cornwall, England, aged 27 years, and was single. He leaves a brother in Meaderville and an aged mother and five sisters in Cornwall to mourn his loss. Mr. Bosanko has been in this country six years, and has been working at the Clark's Colusa for a long time. He was a sober. industrious man and had a host of friends.

POINTS FROM PITTSTON.

A Newsy Batch of Interesting Personals and Gossip.

PITTSTON, July 31.—W. J. Bosanko, aged 27 years, was a shaft sinker and general mine workman, who until a little over a year ago worked in West Pittsten from the time he came from Camborne, England, about two years ago, until he went West, where he was killed July 3d, by an explosition of giant powder which he was handling in the 450 foot level of Clark's Colusa mine, near Butte City, Montana. He was alone and when found his remains had to be gathered up in a bag, the man being literally blown to pieces. The unfortunate was single, leaves a brother near where he was killed, an aged mother and six sisters in England to mourn his death. Our information comes through a brother of Jack Newton's, at Butte City. The young man is well spoken of as a fine fellow, and his sudden death caused many friends to mourn. The funeral was said to have been the largest ever seen in that section of the country.

A MINER BLOWN TO PIECES.

FORT KEOGH, Montana, June 11.—A Welshman named Basanko, working at the Colusa Mine, near Meadowville, met with a terrible death yesterday. He started for the shaft with about 11 pounds of giant powder and a box of caps. He was seen to stoop over the box containing the powder and caps, when a miner's candle dropped in among the caps and a terrible explosion occurred. The men at the face of the drift, a hundred feet away, were tossed about like corks, one of them being raised 10 feet in the air. Basanko's head was blown to atoms, and his body to fragments.

Nubbins o' News.

A Welshman named Bosanko working at the Colusa mine, Montana, met with a terrible death yesterday. He started for the shaft with eleven pounds of giant powder and a box of caps. He was seen to stoop over the box containing the powder and caps, when a miner's candle dropped among the caps, and an explosion occurred. The men at the face of the drift, a hundred feet away, were tossed about like corks, one of them being raised ten feet in the air. Bosanko's body was blown to fragments.

Can anyone identify him from this information and know his first name, age and place of birth? Colusa mine was near Butte, Montana. In an online index to information in the newspaper, Billings Gazette, there is a John BOSANKO from Butte with an obituary in the June 5, 1886 edition. I have not found the newspaper itself online. IF the newspaper article is correct that he died "yesterday" (ie June 11) this John would be a different person but with the uncommon surname and location I think the miner killed may have been the same person as the obituary. Anyone have that obituary?

Thanks,
Karen

I believe this is my father's uncle who was named Thomas Bosanko. I know my father's grandmother lost a child in a mining accident.

Henry Bosanko Seized With Fatal Hemorrhage.

WHERE ODGERS FOUGHT

Bosanko Passed Away at Jennings & Batley's Saloon, Where Thomas Hill and Nick Odgers Had Their Fight Monday Night—Bosanko Seemed Well and Had a Number of Drinks Shortly Before He Died—No Inquest Will BeHeld—Was a Native of Italy.

Henry Bosanko, an Italian laborer, died suddenly in a rear room of Jennings & Batley's saloon on East First South street late yesterday afternoon. Death was caused by hemorrhage of the lungs. The saloon is the same in which Nick Odgers received his injuries two days before.

An hour before Bosanko was stricken he appeared to be enjoying good health, walking about the saloon conversing with those in the place and taking several glasses of liquor. About 4 o'clock Thomas Christopher of 129 West Second South street noticed that Bosanko had sunk into a chair and that blood was gushing from his mouth. Christopher went behind the bar to get a stimulant for the sufferer, who then got up and made his way into a back room. Two men followed him and were just in time to catch him as he fell to the floor. Within a few minutes he was dead. The police were notified, as was Justice Dana T. Smith. It was evident that death resulted from natural causes, and it was decided that an inquest would not be necessary. In the pockets of the dead man's clothing were found several dollars in change and a card bearing his name and the legend, "Notify Philip Richards at Silver City, Utah, in case of accident." The body is at Evans's undertaking establishment pending an effort to find friends or relatives of the dead man.

port.

E. E. Matlocks was given a divorce from Alice Matlocks on the ground of desertion.

The marriage of Miss Katherine B. King and Benjamin D. Hamill was solemnized last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Carpenter. The bride was attended by her little cousins, James Carpenter and Edna Schultz.

W. K. Ross, a teamster employed by the Pleasant Valley Coal company, related to the police last night an account of an experience with thugs which he had while on his way to his home on Fourth North street about 8 o'clock. Ross says he was passing a dark place on the sidewalk near the corner of Fifth North and Fourth West street when a man sprang from behind a tree and ordered him to elevate his hands. He says he entered a demurrer, which, however, was overruled by the appearance of a second man, bearing a gun. The teamster says he stood at attention while his pockets were inspected and $28 removed by the highwaymen, who then lost no time in leaving the vicinity.

A requisition from the governor of Nevada, presented by Sheriff Jake Johnson of Lincoln county, for Thomas Leonard was honored by Gov. Wells yesterday. Leonard is one of fourteen men indicted for attempting to lynch a negro. The victim, it is said, had done nothing to be lynched for, but that it seems made no difference to the party and they hung him three times before they released him. Leonard is now in jail at St. George. Jim Morrison, alleged to be another member of the lynching party, was arrested yesterday at Stateline, and, as he refuses to go back to Nevada without extradition, Sheriff Johnson will have to make another trip to Utah after taking Leonard home.

Henry Bosanko, an Italian laborer, died suddenly in a rear room of Jennings & Batley's saloon on East First South street late yesterday afternoon. Death was caused by hemorrhage of the lungs. The saloon is the same in which Nick Odgers received his injuries two days before.

The Saltair Beach company will sacrifice about one-third of its income by abolishing the sale of liquor at the pavilion, according to the statement of an official of the company. The bar concession, he said, has been one of the best sources of revenue of the company, yielding each season a net profit of from $5,000 to $7,000. Unless the patronage of the resort is largely increased, there will be a deficit at the close of business next summer.
